

MARE ARTIFICIAL INSEMINATION

SHORT COURSE

When: July 11-12, 2025

20 hours of theoretical and hands-on experience in semen handling and artificial insemination in mares.

Where:

SIU Equine Teaching and Research Unit (ETRU)

2422 Union Hill Road,
Carbondale, Illinois 62603

Objectives and Topics Covered:

To teach participants about semen evaluation and processing, artificial insemination techniques, the estrous cycle and manipulation, prediction of ovulation, and anovulatory conditions.

Target Audience:

Veterinarians, veterinary students, veterinary technicians, animal scientists, animal science students. Spaces limited to 12 people maximum; 5 minimum.

Registration Fee:

$1,200.00 per person for the entire artificial insemination course.

Registration accepted on a first-come, first-served basis until June 23.

Check (preferably) or cash only; Payment plan available.

Instructors:

Dr. Márcio Nunes, DVM, MS;
Technical Manager at German Standard Group/Minitube Middle East.

Dr. Eduardo Gastal, DVM, MS, PhD;
Professor of Animal and Equine Science at SIU.

Kendall Hyde, MS;
PhD student in Animal and Equine Science at SIU.

Sponsors:

Contact:

Kendall Hyde at kendall.hyde@siu.edu or call (618) 319-3903.